

13 Ways to Look at Grandma Kay

1. Tight curls unchanging season to season
reflected on my head.
2. Tables full of food better than Christmas morning each plate a gift from heaven.
3. Laughter bounces from the walls from loved one to loved one - family fills each room.
4. The very essence of love creeps into you with rib crushing hugs.
5. Rain, snow, or shine. She will forever Be selling football tickets in the Marshall football stadium.
A smile warms your cheeks,
Free hot cocoa for everyone.
6. A cheering crowd on the sidelines,
the only face you see is hers.
7. Five giant dogs
Jaunt through the house
Only she knows how to calm their constant animation.
8. Grandchildren quiver with
The thought of angering her
She only ever strikes with words.
9. A treat is more sweet
when it is snuck
from the secret candy drawer.
10. Sunday afternoon!
The most delightful day of the week.
All rooms filled with Love. Family.
Football. Food.
11. Audiobook cases create a collage of color soft voices telling mysteries
in the kitchen window.
12. Uncountable puzzles pieces.
How can she see the beauty in all this madness?
13. Her warmth is lost in time.
Only the memories of her smile remain.
Death does not care for your soft, human,
Emotion.
